

Dear hearts, (10.03.2022)

I have been trying to do something for humanity for years, but it looks like those in power are not taking my fight seriously because I would not make billions if I were successful. Will people be considered extraterrestrials fighting for the happiness of humanity without financial interests?

For this reason, I ask: do hearts have nothing to say when it comes to human values?

"Our most important asset more-than-enough-money" or the voice of all our hearts?

Are we slaves to more-than-enough money, or to our human values? Which decision makes us all happier together?

What is becoming more and more important today: greed or love? As the earth loses all its colors without sunshine, so will we experience the same without mutual love?

As long as humanity lives primarily on money, untold millions of people will lose their vital rights in favor of more-than-enough money. Ask every heart to respond.

(According to Jean Ziegler, around 30-40 million people die of hunger or the direct consequences (as of 2007). Children under the age of five are often affected. Every seventh person worldwide is underweight)

Why is the teaching system simply for mutual respect, love and solidarity for all people in every sense not put into action? Is that going to be harmful to humanity, isn't it?

I just wish with all my heart for a loving world and nothing more.

Cengiz Emektar

-E. E. Cummings: To be nobody but yourself in a world which is doing its best, night and day, to make you everybody else - means to fight the hardest battle which any human being can fight; and never stop fighting."

1. Ernst Freiherr vonFeuchtersleben: Arrogance is the caricature of pride. Some Roosters believe that the sun rises because of them.

2. Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach: 2. Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach: Anyone who feels too big to do small tasks is too small to be entrusted with big tasks. 2. Where vanity begins, reason ends. 3. Vanity is more powerful than shame.

Lucius Annaeus Seneca: Not he who has little is poor, but he who desires much.

Aldous Huxley: You do not get rid of facts by ignoring them.

Oliver Hassencamp: Love does not make you blind. The lover only sees far more than there is.

Blaise Pascal: A drop of love is worth more than an ocean of mind.

Abraham Lincoln: If you want to know a man's character, give him power.

Jimi Hendrix: When the power of love triumphs over the love of power, the world will find peace.

Otto von Bismarck: If a pact, no matter how harmless it looks, is made somewhere between two powers, you immediately have to ask yourself who is supposed to be killed here.

Albert Einstein:

1. The best things in life are not what money can buy.
2. A life geared primarily to the fulfillment of personal needs will sooner or later lead to bitter disappointment.
3. The world is not threatened by those who are evil, but by those who allow evil to happen
4. it's harder to shatter a preconception than an atom
5. Imagination is more important than knowledge because knowledge is limited
6. Personalities are not formed by fine speeches, but by work and personal achievement."
7. striving for social justice is the most valuable thing in life."
8. the most important realization of my life is that we live in a loving universe."
9. The purpose of life is not to be a successful person, "but a valuable one."

Nelson Mandela: No one is born hating other people because of their skin color, race or religion. Hate is learned. And if you can learn to hate, you can also learn to love. Because love is a much more natural feeling in a person's heart than it's opposite. 2- Where love grows, life thrives - where hatred arises, there is a risk of decline.

Buddha: Love is what makes you smile when you are tired.

Buddha: We are what we think. Everything we are arises from our thoughts. We form the world with our thoughts.

Buddha: The way is not in heaven. The way is in the heart.

Dalai Lama: Respect yourself, respect others and take responsibility for what you do.

Carl Gustav Jung: Where love reigns, there is no will to power.

Martin Luther King: We must learn to live together as brothers or perish as fools.

Osho: When you love yourself, you love those around you. If you hate yourself, you hate those around you. Your relationship with others is just a reflection of yourself.

Martin Luther King: Love is the only power capable of turning an enemy into a friend.

Carl Jung: The life of those who cannot look into their own heart is blurred. Those who have the courage to look into their own heart are those who discover their heart's desire. He who looks outside dreams, gets lost in the world of dreams. Who looks inside wakes up, discovers himself

The cruelty of the powerless expresses itself as indifference.